THE MOTHER OF NAPOLEON I. Carlo Bonaparte and Letitia Romolini were his parents. They had loved and been betrothed when she was only fourteen years of age; but their families were active political antagonists, and the marriage was deferred for about two years, when the Paoli party, to which Carlo belonged, became absolute masters of Corsica, and active strife ceased. They were wedded in 1776 by the Archbishop, and received the blessing of her parents at the nuptials. Count Marbœut, the conqueror, was made Governor of Corsics, and Carlo Bonaparte and his family were highest on his list of personal friends. Ten years after that conquest the Corsican nobles sent Carlo to Paris as their representative in the popular branch of the Imperial Government of France. Leaving Letitia in charge of their growing family, he took Joseph and Napoleon with him.

They crossed the sea to Leghorn and jour neyed to Florence, where Carlo received from the Grand Duke, Leopold, a letter to his sis ter, Marie Antoinette, the Queen of France. She made Carlo a welcome suest at Versailles, when Napoleon, then ten years old, first look ed upon that gorgeous palace of which he was afterward the master. Carlo left Joseph in a school at Autun, and through the influence of Governor Markout he was allowed to place Napoleon in the Military Academy at Brienne. where the afterward eminent Pitchegrue was one of his instructors.

Six years later a heavy weight of misfortune fell upon Letitia. Carlo was attacked by the disease which terminated the life of his most illustrio's sou, at St. Helena, thirty years after ward. He went alone to Montpelier, in France, for advice and remedies, and there he died, 1785, under the hospitable root of a girihood companion of Leitis, the mother of the celebrated Marshal Junot.

When Carlo died Letitia was not thirty five years of eg-, and had been the mother of thir teen children. Five sons and three daughters were yet living-a race of monarchs who occupied threnes and lost them during one of the most wonderful historical dramss, enacted in the space of ten years, the world has ever known. She saw them rise and fall while her tresses were ver dark and the heanty of her wouth yer bloomed on her cheeks and sparkted in her eyes. Her sons were Guiseppe, or Joseph. who was made King of Naples in 1806, and of Spain in 1808; Napoleon, who made him self Emperor of the French and disposer of thrones in 1805; Luciana, or Lucien, who alone refused a crown, but accepted a principality, with its title, from the Pope in 1808; Luigi, or Louis. made King of Hol land in 1806, and refused the erown of Spain in 1809; and Girolania, or Jerome, who was made King of Westphalia in 1807, when that province was erected into a kingdom. The daughters were Maria Anna Eliza, who was created sovereign of Tuscany, with the title of Grand Duchess, in 1808; Carlotta, afterward Marie Pauline, who, as the wife of Prince Borghese, became the most illustrious Italian princess of her time; and Caroline Maria Annunciado, the wife of Murat, who became

The young widow of Ajaccio had no reason to dream, in wildest fancy, of the splenders that awaited herself and family. The latter were mostly little children; Jerome, the youngest, an infant in her arms. She was left with scanty means for their support and education. To these she devoted all her energies with marvelous succers. Strength, we have observed, was the prominent feature in her character, and this was displayed in the hour of need. Napoleon once said, "she had the head of a man on the shoulders of a woman. Losses, privations, fatigue, had no effect upon her; she endured all, braved all." These came at times thick and fast. Joseph, ever kind and good, helped his mother with all his might as he grew toward manhood; while Napoleon, a rather duli student in outward expression, was preparing in the military school at Paris, for that wonderful career which enabled him, by imperial decree, to make Sovereigns of his brothers an! sisters, and to confer upon his mother, at the age of fifty years, the lofty title of Madame Merc, equivalent to that of Em press Mother with an income of two hundred thousand dollars a year.

THE HORRIBLE CHIGNON,-The time when chignous will go out of fashion might be called a heiry millennium. The other day we saw a wonder-a young lady who were her own hair only. There was not very much of it, but how beautiful and natural it looked, and how differ at from those monstrous and abominable bags of jute, those impossible switches, those bundles of tangled wool, which now disfigure nearly every woman in the city. To look at these gigantic determities, which do not even pretend to be natural, is to think of perspiration, trichi æ. rope-yards, dirt and detestable taste. They disfigure the entire head of the pretnest of young ladies. Sometimes the vanity of the wearer leads to amusing results. We recently saw a lady whose "braid" or "front" had been disarranged by wind, and displayed a torehead as bald as Bismarck's, while behind, her luxuriant tresses were bound up in a bundle like a coffee bag. It is getting to be common to see decided differences in the colors of the real and the false hair. But our ladies do not seem to mind these absurdities. They have ceased to pretend that the chignons are but the natural locks of their pretty little heads, and openly discuss the prices of hemp and wool. We wish even these who buy real hair, cut from the dead or bought from the living, would reflect upon the words at reasonable prices for cash, by E. H. CLARKSONS. of a clereyman, who asked one of his fair and fashionable sheep if she had ever thought that she might to wearing the hair of a woman whose soul might be elsewhere? The question wa severe, but suggestive. It would not however apply to the majority of American wo men; they do not wear natura! hair, and are obliged to stick on the back of their heads substances done up in ners, that resemble hair time may come when American women will not sacruce beauty, taste, and what may be called the honests of personal appearance. Young persons are too apt to com-mit excesses from n t being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened .-Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional D bility and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and

Member of the Royal College of Surgeo London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philaderphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden so bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, un-fitting them for either busines, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weaknese of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsis, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY — The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of memory, Con-fusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distruct, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption. YOUNG MEN Who have injured themselves by a cettein practice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, rerders marriage impossible, and destroys both nind and body, should apple immediately. What a pity that a young man, the hope of h's country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in pernicious havits. Such persons must, before con-

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness Indeed, without these the journey through he becomes a weary pingrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view the mind becomes anadowed with despair, and fitted with the melanch dy reflection that the nappi ness of another is brighted with our own DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the mi guided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has impibed the seads of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-imed sense of shame or oread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can sione berriend him, delaying till the constitu-tional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, dea ness, nodes or the sain bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose tall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no travel-

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDER, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a r-newal of Life, Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.
